NLP FOR COACHES

These three days gives Coaches a compendium of useful NLP tools they can use to accelerate their flexibility with clients. Designed specifically for Solution Focused Coaches to address key areas of coaching competency, the course is a 'taster' that gives a range of new perspectives on the coach-client relationship.

This program is special. We will offer it in Norway only every few years. And this is the first time!

It is also a training giving you an advanced level in your personal coach training journey after the Art and Science of Coaching!

Students from all coaching schools are especially invited to this training.

Dr. Marilyn Atkinson is a psychologist, a renowned NLP Master trainer and the Founding President of Erickson Coaching International in Canada, with subsidiaries in 20+ countries.

Dr. Atkinsons coaching programs were developed in the mid-1990's. One of the earliest global clients was Norwegian Telenor.

This is an ICF Accredited Continuing Education Course (28 cceu). The topics in this three day program are:

* Sensory Acuity: This addresses the awareness and presence of the Coach and the capacity of the Coach to co-create the relationship through trust and intimacy.

* Basic Personal Systems: Submodalities of Experience: This addresses the Coach's ability to communicate effectively through active listening; asking powerful questions that evoke discovery, insight and commitment to action.

* Language Patterns and Effective Goal Design: Understanding language patterns assists in creating awareness,. It assists us to move beyond getting hooked by the client's description, and allows us to help the client with fixed ways they may have in perceiving themselves in action in the world. This inspires commitment to shift their viewpoints and find new possibilities for action.

* Guiding Basic Assumptions towards Easy Mastery: Working with the client's basic assumptions playfully communicates broader perspectives. It assists clients to design actions. We challenge their assumptions and perspectives, and assist the client to "do it now"

* Anchoring Excellence: With anchoring we provide access to key resources, in early successes and core talents that ease the process of effectively preparing and organizing the next level of success.

Your Coach Facilitator: Marilyn Atkinson prepared this program for already successful coaches who wish to deepen key competencies with a 'next level' set of sensory and language skills.
